- 25X1 1. [] Comment. The tank spare parts depot at Muellrose is the largest tank spare
25X1 parts depot of the GDFC. []
Kirchmoeser, forms the 123d Central Tank Repair Shop. For copy of lay-out sketch 25X1 [] Compared with a previous sketch, the present lay-out shows that the capacity of the installation has been increased by additional constructions.
- 25X1 2. [] Comment. The data support previously voiced assumptions that the depot constantly increases its capacity. The Soviets undoubtedly intend to keep large stocks at the depot in order to be able to regularly supply troop units with spare parts and also to take care of major tank repairs. The same applies to the Kirchmoeser tank repair shop which is to handle tank repairs which were previously done in the U.S.S.R. This procedure eliminates the volume of tank shipments to the U.S.S.R. which require much time and weaken the combat efficiency of the troop units.
25X1 [] only sporadic tank shipments to the U.S.S.R. have been observed during the last 9 months.
- 25X1 3. [] Comment. [] fresh stocks 25X1
from the U.S.S.R. arrive in East Germany. The monthly average of incoming supplies for Muellrose is 100 to 120 carloads. However, the list in the present report also shows that considerable amount of the deliveries to the depot is produced by the East German industry. The shipments referred to as military goods come from repair shops of the units and, presumably, consist of old equipment going to the U.S.S.R.
for scrapping or complete overhaul.
- 25X1 4. [] has been reported from Dresden twice since October 1951. One time in connection with a shipment of military goods from Muellrose in June 1952.
25X1 [] 52d Gds Tank Regt of the 6th Gds Tank Div from Bittenberg until June 1952
25X1 [] Dresden Klotzsche in June 1950 in conjunction with a shipment on two SP guns from Schwerin.
25X1 []
25X1 []
- 25X1 5. [] Comment. The compilation confirms repair shops of divisions and armies. The delivery of 176 carloads of tank spare parts in July 1952 is due to an increased number of damaged tanks from the summer training.
